Catholic and Christian

Did you know that baptized into the faith, you are both Catholic and Christian?

Have you ever been told you weren't both?

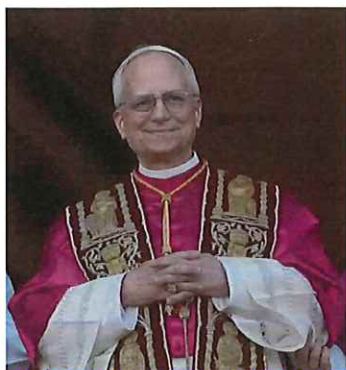

Jesus' earliest disciples were known as "People of the Way." This is likely because Jesus called Himself "the way, the truth, and the light" (John 14:6). Later, the "People of the Way" would come to be universally known as "Christians." The name "Christian" comes from the Greek word Christianos, which means "Follower of Christ."

The Greek word for "church" is katholikos, which translates to "universal." The word "catholic" comes from katholikos. Since the true Church of Christ Jesus is universal, "making disciples of all nations" as was commanded (Matthew 28:19), the precise wording "Catholic Church" is fitting. It simply affirms that she is the "Universal Church," the true Church established by Christ.

So, we are "Christians"—those who follow Christ—and we are also "Catholic," that is, members of the one universal and undivided Church united throughout the whole world thanks to the evangelization of the Apostles and their successors.

What a gift we have been given to be both!
